Back of the Large Dingle

A traditional shaped poultry ark, the Dingle is similar to our Dell range but without the run. We make the Dingle in 2 sizes to correlate with the house sizes of the Midi Dell and the Dell. Like the Dells the chicken house is raised off the floor to give the birds shelter underneath and to deter vermin problems. Unlike the Dells the sides of the Dingles are boarded all the way to the ground to give the chickens extra shelter under the house area.

The chicken ark is complete with a vertical sliding pop hole and a ladder for the chickens to access the ark. The side panel to the house lifts off and the perch block is removable for easy cleaning. The nest box is on the back of the house and is accessed from the outside to collect the eggs. Just like the Dells there is a vent on either side of the ridge for good air circulation.

The Dingles have removable carrying handles so the house can be lifted up and moved easily with 2 people. The chickens can also use these during the day for perches.
